

Wisconsin Department of Revenue Announces Town Hall Meetings

An open invitation to discuss modernizing property assessment and moving property tax valuation and administration to the county level.

Department of Revenue Secretary Roger Ervin invites assessors, local government officials and members of the public to join him for a Town Hall Meeting to discuss ways to provide a more fair and efficient property assessment system in Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Department of Revenue (DOR) is holding Town Hall Meetings across the state to present a proposal for county assessment and to get feedback from attendees. “Especially in these tight economic times, citizens expect government to provide accurate services as efficiently as possible. That’s why I am looking forward to these meetings, getting input on ways we can improve our property assessment system in Wisconsin and feedback on a county assessment model,” Secretary Ervin said.

Information on the DOR county assessment proposal can be found on the Department’s home page at www.revenue.wi.gov . The dates and locations of the Town Hall Meetings are listed below.
